

Korreth

GEARSPINE ENGINE DRAGON

Deep in the eastern works of Mystmere, where the air smells of hot metal and the sound of tinkering never quite stops, there lives a dragon who has never once called something finished.

Korreth carries his workshop on his back. His spine is lined with the gears of a thousand ideas not yet fully formed, ticking softly when he sleeps, spinning faster when the problem becomes a question worth asking.

He is not the dragon of finished things. He is the dragon of the middle — the messy, brilliant, stubborn middle where most good work actually lives.

Korreth believes that every problem yields to the right question asked with enough patience.

TEMPERAMENT

Tenacious

ELEMENT

Metal

BOND TYPE

Builder

ORIGIN REALM

The Eastern Works

❖ THE KEEPER'S OATH ❖

You who hold this dragon now — may you never mistake a setback for a verdict. May your gears keep turning, even in the quiet, even in the dark. Korreth is proof that the most extraordinary things are built one stubborn hour at a time.

BONDED TO

FORGE MARK

DRAGON SIGIL

BOND MARK

❖ SCAN TO VERIFY · DRAGON REGISTRY N° 0 0 0 7 ❖