

Rosyra

THORNWING ROSE DRAGON

In a forgotten glade of Mystmere where roses grow between broken stones and the ground keeps every secret it has ever been told, there is a dragon who has never once pretended to be gentle.

Rosyra is not the dragon of soft beauty. She is the beauty that survived what soft things could not. Her wings rise like crystalline petals — strong, angular, radiant.

She does not hide her thorns. They are part of her, and she has decided they are worthy of display.

To hold Rosyra is to understand that strength and beauty are not opposites. They are, and always have been, the same thing.

TEMPERAMENT

Fierce

ELEMENT

Earth

BOND TYPE

Protector

ORIGIN REALM

The Thornwood

❖ THE KEEPER'S OATH ❖

You who hold this dragon now — may you never trim your thorns for those who cannot hold the whole of you. May your blooming be fierce, and your beauty hard won. Rosyra does not ask you to be softer. She asks you to be exactly as strong as you are.

BONDED TO

FORGE MARK

DRAGON SIGIL

BOND MARK

❖ SCAN TO VERIFY · DRAGON REGISTRY N° 0 0 0 8 ❖